I recommend MyClassroomHelper classroom management software for a number of reasons:

It allows my students to have an online notebook to keep track of their daily work progress. We use the journal almost every day. Since technology classes can be very complex, it is important that students write down key concepts to help them remember what they have learned. Also, because Sartori is a magnet school for the district where students come from different schools on different days, MyClassroomHelper's online journal helps me keep track of what labs or activities my students may have missed.

The File section is also useful for saving in-class work such as PowerPoint presentations or utility programs that couldn't be previously saved. The use of the Files, Journals, and Portfolios helps students meet one of the requirements the state has for graduation.

Our school is especially interested in the Case Notes section since the students sometimes transfer between classes and their folders often have missing notes. This allows us to keep a central file for each student and we don't duplicate or miss disciplinary actions or other important information when moving students around. It is encrypted and editable per our teachers request.

The Assignment section gives me an easy way to pass out assignments to kids who can't be here for whatever reason. Since MyClassroomHelper is web-based, students can review and complete assignments on any PC with an internet connection.

Finally, I like the fact that MyClassroomHelper can be hosted on a school server or on MyClassroomHelper's web server and is significantly less expensive and easier to use than Blackboard.
